

Waste & Recycling Management

WasteLine

ensures that OCS clients realise the environmental, cost and reputation benefits that arise from best practice waste and recycling management

In this modern, sustainability focused world, operating in ways to reduce environmental impacts is an expectation increasingly placed on OCS' clients. Waste and recycling is one of the most visible demonstrations to your customers, stakeholders and communities of your commitment to act in sustainable ways. Furthermore, local and central government is steadily increasing waste disposal costs to incentivise waste minimisation and recycling.

OCS recognises that these pressures create both risk and opportunity for our clients. The cost and reputational risk are real, but so too are the opportunities to improve environmental performance, reduce operating costs and enhance reputation.

The WasteLine service model gives OCS the independence to manage your waste in the best way for you.

waste minimisation & recycling solutions

Achieving the right outcomes requires a total waste solution. OCS WasteLine designs, implements and maintains the total waste solution from the at-source streaming strategies to the sorting systems, on-site operating processes, user education and training and the end collection infrastructure and services. All aspects of the end-to-end waste process are brought together to achieve the most cost effective and environmentally friendly waste and recycling management solution.

collection & disposal brokerage

Waste brokerage is about WasteLine leveraging its collective purchasing power and negotiating with its vetted supply network to provide you with the most cost effective collection rates and performance focused supply arrangements.

one supplier solution

The most cost effective solution may require a mix of general and specialist waste and recycling collection and processing providers. To ensure management and administrative ease for you, WasteLine manages and administers all sub-contractors and provides you with a hassle-free one supplier waste service solution that can be integrated with other OCS services to further reduce your supplier management burden.

sophisticated performance management

Achieving optimal waste management outcomes requires continued monitoring of contractor service performance, service specifications, waste volumes and costs to ensure maximum service and cost efficiency at all times. WasteLine's performance management and reporting systems do exactly this, thereby both removing this management burden from you and empowering you to make the right decisions for the best possible waste and recycling management outcomes.
